Kohl's Corporation
Related Party Transactions Policy

Last Revised: August 10, 2010

Policy

The Board of Directors (the "Board") of Kohl's Corporation ("Kohl's") has declared that all Related Party Transactions, as described below, will be approved or ratified in accordance with this policy by the Board's Governance & Nominating Committee, or such other committee as may be designated by the Board (the "Committee").

Background

Our Code of Ethical Standards and Responsibilities, which applies to all Associates and Directors, provides that any situation that creates or appears to create a conflict of interest between personal interests and the interests of Kohl's must be avoided. Rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") require that certain transactions between an issuer and certain related persons need to be disclosed in our SEC filings. Additionally, Kohl's organizational documents, the rules of the New York Stock Exchange or other applicable rules or laws may require certain transactions between Kohl's and our Directors and officers to be approved by our Board of Directors or a duly authorized committee of the Board. Finally, SEC rules and New York Stock Exchange standards require our Board to assess whether relationships or transactions exist that may impair the independence of our outside Directors. This Policy is intended to provide guidance and direction on Related Party Transactions.

Definitions

A "Related Party Transaction" is any transaction directly or indirectly involving any Related Party that would need to be disclosed under SEC rules. Current rules require disclosure of any transaction involving Kohl's occurring since the beginning of our last fiscal year, or any such currently proposed transaction where the amount involved exceeds $120,000, and in which any related person had or will have a direct or indirect material interest. "Related Party Transaction" also includes any material amendment or modification to an existing Related Party Transaction.

"Related Party" means any of the following:

- a Director (which term when used herein includes any Director nominee),
- an executive officer,
- a person known by Kohl's to be the beneficial owner of more than 5% of Kohl's common stock (a "5% stockholder"), or
- a person known by Kohl's to be an immediate family member of any of the foregoing.

"Immediate family member" means a child, stepchild, parent, stepparent, spouse, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law of such Director, executive officer, nominee for Director or beneficial owner, and any person (other than a tenant or employee) sharing the household of such Director, executive officer, nominee for Director or beneficial owner.

Identification of Potential Related Party Transactions

Related Party Transactions may be brought to management's and the Board's attention in a number of ways. Each of our Directors and executive officers is instructed and periodically reminded to inform the Office of the Secretary of any potential Related Party Transactions. In addition, each such Director and executive officer completes a questionnaire on an annual basis designed to elicit information about any potential Related Party Transactions.

Any potential Related Party Transactions that are brought to our attention are analyzed by our Legal Department, in consultation with management and with outside counsel, as appropriate, to determine whether the transaction or relationship does, in fact, constitute a Related Party Transaction requiring compliance with this Policy.

Review and Approval of Related Party Transactions

The Committee will be provided with the details of any new or proposed Related Party Transaction, including the terms of the transaction, the business purpose of the transaction, and the benefits to Kohl's and to the relevant Related Party. In determining whether to approve a Related Party Transaction, the Committee may consider, among other factors, the following factors to the extent relevant to the Related Party Transaction:

- whether the terms of the Related Party Transaction are fair to Kohl's and on the same basis as would apply if the transaction did not involve a Related Party;
- whether there are business reasons for Kohl's to enter into the Related Party Transaction;
- whether the Related Party Transaction would impair the independence of an outside Director; and
- whether the Related Party Transaction would present an improper conflict of interests for any Director or executive officer of Kohl's, taking into account the size of the transaction, the overall financial position of the Director, executive officer or Related Party, the direct or indirect nature of the Director's, executive officer's or Related Party's interest in the transaction and the ongoing nature of any proposed relationship, and any other factors the Committee deems relevant.

Any member of the Committee who has an interest in the transaction under discussion will abstain from voting on the approval of the Related Party Transaction, but may, if so requested by the Chairperson of the Committee, participate in some or all of the Committee's discussions of the Related Party Transaction. Upon completion of its review of the transaction, the Committee may determine to permit or to prohibit the Related Party Transaction.

A Related Party Transaction entered into without pre-approval of the Committee shall not be deemed to violate this Policy, or be invalid or unenforceable, so long as the transaction is approved by the Committee as promptly as reasonably practical after it is entered into or after it becomes reasonably apparent that the transaction is covered by this policy.

The Committee shall annually (a) review each existing Related Party Transaction that has an amount involved of at least $120,000, and (b) determine whether it is in the best interests of Kohl's and its shareholders to continue, modify or terminate the transaction or relationship; and (c) re-evaluate whether the Related Party Transaction would impair the independence of an outside Director.
